Of late Cash-Cash has been a regular attendant at divine worship, and, being possessed of more intelligence than the general run of Indians, has listened very attentively to the teachings that are expounded by the ministers. He is now endeavoring to lead a better life by paying his debts and refusing to gamble or drink firewater.

Severs, weeks ago T. D. Page placed a bill against Cash-Cash in a bank at Pendieton for collection. Cash-Cash was notified, and he promptly responded and settled.

An Old Indian with an Eye to His Soul's Welfare. Old Cash-Cash, the well-known Umatilla Indian, is becoming greatly interested in what will become of his soul when he dies, says the Walla Walla

The excitement among the negroes prevailed all day and night. Some prayed all night, and one old negro, after westling, with his sins all night, and while on tis knees supplicating his Master's mercy upon him, heard a bugle blown by one of his reighbors, and fell prostrate to the ground from fear of the idea that it was Gabriel's trumpet.
